Death of George H. Newton

Dr. George Herbert Newton of Waterbury, a former Cambridge physician, died at the Fanny Allen Hospital Wednesday morning following an operation for acute appendicitis.

The remains were brought here Saturday and the funeral was held in the Congregational Church at two o'clock. The service was conducted by a former pastor, the Rev. C. S. Quimby of Essex Junction, assisted by the Rev. R. E. Green of the Community Church and burial was made in the Mountain View Cemetery.

The Masonic service at the grave was conducted by Warner Lodge, No. 50, of Jeffersonville. There were 60 masons present, representing the following lodges: Winooski Lodge of Waterbury, Mystic Lodge of Stowe, Mt. Vernon Lodge of Morrisville, Mt. Norris Lodge of Eden, Waterman Lodge of Johnson, Sharon Lodge of Underhill, Lamelle Lodge of Fairfax. The funeral was under the direction of Mr. Perkins of Waterbury and the bearers were six brother physicians.

There was profusion of beautiful flowers which completely covered the casket. The church was filled to capacity and many, unable to get in during the service.

Dr. Newton was born in Lowell, Vt., April 21, 1867, and is survived by his wife, Alice Keith Newton, by two daughters, Marjorie R. Newton of Waterbury and Mrs. Buell Brewster of Cambridge, by one son, Kenneth Keith Newton, a student at the University of Vermont and by one grandchild, Barbara Brewster, also one brother, Frank Newton of Lynn, Mass.

The deceased was a graduate of Vermont Medical College class of 1891. He practiced medicine in Cambridge 25 years and was well and favorably known by hundreds of families to whom he had ministered as physician. He was a member of Warner Lodge, No. 50, F. & A. M., also a member of Tucker Chapter Royal Arch masons of Morrisville. During the World war he was commissioned captain and had charge of the medical corps in the 86th development battalion at Camp Sevier, Greenville, S. C. He then located in Waterbury in 1919 and was there until the time of his death.

While in Waterbury, he was made a member of Mt. Sinai Temple of Shriners and last summer was sent as a delegate from that order to a Shriner's convention in California.

Mr. Newton will be sadly missed by a host of people, old and young, as he was a great favorite with all with whom he came in contact in his practice and in society, he always had a good word and a cheerful smile for all.

Press Comment

He Will Need It

Granting that in the normal course of events, Redfield Proctor will become Governor of Vermont, the people of the state as a whole ought to join hands with Lieut.-Governor Foote in promising to lend whatever influence they can toward the betterment of the entire state.—Barre Times.

"Typical of the Man"

When informed of the nomination of Redfield Proctor for governor of Vermont by the Republicans in Tuesday's primary, Lieut.-Gov. Abram W. Foote, the defeated candidate, declared that he would do everything in his power to support him (Proctor) in the election and administration, adding "there will be no friction of any sort."

That's the kind of talk that is typical of the man.

Lieut.-Gov. Foote was an earnest seeker after the gubernatorial nomination as an honor worthy of being sought and as an opportunity to serve the state; he put up a fair, clean campaign and placed his record before the voters as evidence of his good faith.

He was counted out at the polls by a comparatively small margin, and thereby was defeated in a cherished ambition, but Lieut.-Governor Foote nurtures no sharp feeling of resentment against his successful rival or against the people of Vermont who refused him the nomination.

He proposes to be a Vermonter first, last and all the time, lending support to the various activities for the betterment of the state and doing what he can to aid the prospective governor in carrying out his policies, declaring "there is little difference in his platform and mine."

It is good to note the display of such a fine spirit, not that it was unexpected but because it augurs so well for the advancement of Vermont in various lines. If all the people of Vermont should stand as ready to lend co-operation as this defeated candidate is, Vermont would find itself in a much more advantageous position.—Barre Times.

Greatest Gaffer

Henry Ford is going to shut down his flivver factory on September 16, not because he was not able to get coal, but undoubtedly because he saw a beautiful chance to get a million dollars worth of free publicity.

When the silly newspapers get through talking about the Ford plant shutting down, it will be started up again with some sort of spectacular explanation and then the free advertising will start all over again. Uncle Henry Ford is the smartest little shemer after free space of any captain of industry since Noah. Witness his moaning over the sins of the coal operators, though a coal operator would have to live to be as old as Methuselah to grab as much off the American people as Henry has in his few short years of reaching. This paragraph is the Banner's contribution to the free advertising needed to keep the Ford plant running the coming winter.—Bennington Banner.

Beloved Physician

Dr. George H. Newton of Waterbury Died Sept. 13.

A despatch from Waterbury, dated Sept. 13, said:

Dr. George Herbert Newton, a Dr. Newton was born in Eden 54 years ago, the son of Henry and Mary (Cammatt) Newton. He was educated at Peoples Academy in Morrisville and at the medical department of the University of Vermont. He practiced at East Hardwick and Cambridge before coming to Waterbury two years ago. He was at Cambridge 25 years.

He was a member of Warner Lodge, No. 50, F. and A. M., at Jeffersonville and of Waterbury Chapter, R. A., of Mount Calvary masonry at Middlebury and of Mount Sinai Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, at Montpelier. During this summer Dr. Newton was one of those from Vermont who attended the national Shriners' convention in Los Angeles.

Dr. Newton was married 30 years ago to Alice Keith of Hardwick, who survives him, together with three children, as follows: Mrs. Buell Brewster of Cambridge, Miss Marjorie Newton, a teacher, and Kenneth Newton, a student in the University of Vermont. There is one grandchild; also one brother, Frank, residing in Lowell, Mass.

The body was taken to Waterbury for a service, after which it was taken to Cambridge for burial.

Election Notes and Comment

It was a bad day, for editors. Melvin G. Morse defeated J. E. Appolt at Hardwick in a warm canvas. Appolt is to be congratulated.

Barton had a red hot fight over the representative with two live men as candidates. Frank D. Thompson won by 102 margin. He will make a good man.

Congratulations to Craftsbury upon the almost unanimous nomination of Ex-Gov. Horace F. Graham. He will be one of the most valuable members of the House.

Brattleboro nominated Frank E. Barber, present representative, who will be a candidate for speaker. Dr. Osgood, nominated at Rockingham is also a candidate for speaker.

Now John W. Gordon of Barre is being urged to become a candidate for speaker. Don't John, you are worth more on the floor of the House, both to your city and the state.

The beauties of the Primary law are illustrated in Orleans county, where both candidates for side judge are from the small town of Irasburg, once the county seat of that county.

Even some of Abram Foote's most strenuous opponents now admit that he is considerable of a man. Few indeed have so heartily and gracefully congratulated their successful opponent.

Orlando L. Martin, master of the State Grange, easily won the nomination for representative in Plainfield and will be a strong candidate for speaker. He is well qualified for the position in every way.

Two women were nominated September 12. Mrs. William Wells of Pawlet and Mrs. Florence Ransom of Castleton. The latter led in the great battle for better rural schools two years ago and is a firm believer in Normals.

Harvey R. Kinsley led all the rest in the voting at Rutland and will be the next city representative. There has been talk of his being a candidate for speaker but he will probably prefer to be a leader on the floor of the House, as he surely will be.

We are glad to note the big vote cast for "Greg." Smith, grandson of Vermont's illustrious war governor, J. Gregory Smith. He has proved himself a "chip of the old block" and we believe, will give a good account of himself as Senator. He ran over 900 votes ahead of the ticket.

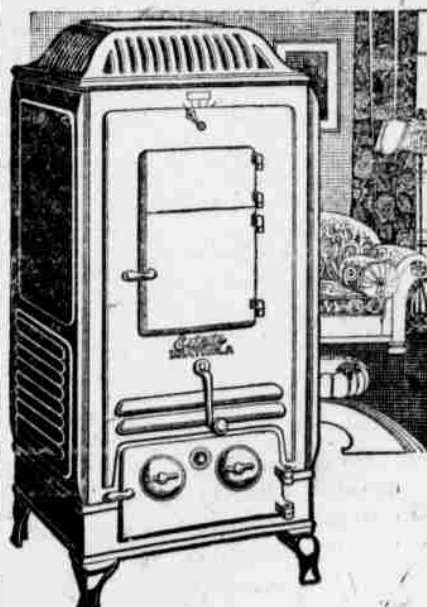

We are pleased to note the nomination of E. W. Tewksbury of Randolph, a very successful insurance agent, and the son of an illustrious family. Hope the machine does not make this "illustrated." He will prove an industrious and valuable member of the legislature if elected.

Rev. John Kimball was the successful candidate for town representative in Glover. He has had experience in another state, in legislative work, and will be a valuable member. Let the House make him chaplain, and thus put an end to the unseemly scramble for this office among the clergy.

The nomination at the Primary of Daniel Johnson, son of the wealthy creamery, grain and coal dealer, Wm. Johnson, at Essex, shows what personal work, solicitation and getting out the voters with autos, etc., is still effective. His opponent solicited no votes and attended strictly to his business. The day of organized effort is still with us, regardless of the primary law.

Much to the surprise of the republicans, the leading democrats of Chittenden county got together and decided upon a county ticket and had enough names written in to insure its adoption and a place on the ticket in November. O. C. Luce, formerly of Stowe, a Lamolite county man of whom all are proud, heads the list for county senator.

HELPFUL HINTS WORTH NOTING

Walnut meats which have become rancid may be freshened and sweetened by pouring over the nut meats boiling water in which a little soda has been dissolved. Rinse in cold water and dry in a towel.

Nuts in the shell which have become too brittle to crack without breaking, if treated to a bath of boiling water, will crack and seem like fresh nuts.

Keep the smallest candle ends and put into a small muslin bag. Use to polish the irons or keep the kitchen range clean and bright.

A broom which is badly worn may serve longer if all the rows of stitching are ripped out except the top row. Trim the broom after soaking in soap suds and drying thoroughly.

A bit of ginger added to doughnuts will keep them from soaking fat, which is both a saving of fat and indigestion.

The amount of bacon to be used for seasoning may be lessened if it is put through the meat grinder before adding to the dish. It is more evenly mixed through the dish in this way.

Stale bread put through the meat grinder, then browned in the oven, makes a fine breakfast cereal served with milk. This is especially good for an invalid.

A run in a silk stocking may be taken back with a crochet hook. Old stockings may be cut in strips and used for braided rugs.

Old inner tubes from auto tires make fine elastic for rompers, bloomers and shirt sleeves. Such elastic will survive several washings without losing its elasticity.

When making mayonnaise, if it curdles, beat another egg and add the curdled mixture very slowly, beating well between each addition. Have all materials cold.

Lemons placed in the oven and heated hot will render their juice more freely.
